

Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 12 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Windy for many on Friday, rather cloudy but mild.

Today:

Windy with a chance of coastal gales in the west at first. Showers are likely at times, heaviest in the west. Isolated bright or sunny spells are also possible, staying fairly mild. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:

Remaining rather cloudy during the evening and overnight however winds will ease somewhat with the odd clear spells developing in the far east later in the night. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Saturday:

A rather cloudy start Saturday but remaining largely dry. Some brighter spells developing, especially during the afternoon and in the east. Winds mostly light to moderate and feeling mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:

Largely dry and cloudy Sunday, with some brighter spells. A fair amount of cloud for both Monday and Tuesday, perhaps with some drizzle in places but feeling a little colder.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.